are raised this year meets with approval.

This is demonstrated by the immediate response evoked in many quarters by Mr. Munsey's outline of the situation which appeared in this newspaper yesterday. It is matter of common knowledge that patrolmen's wages are small, though just how meagre they are in comparison with remuneration outside city service and in proportion to the exactions of decent living has not been brought home to the public before. It is evident from comment heard yesterday that it needs only a comprehensive statement of the facts such as THE SUN will undertake to cause a vigorous popular movement to the end igorous popular movement to the end

City's Biggest Men Urge Action. From men like Gov. Whitman, Police Commissioner Enright, former Police Commissioners, District Attorney Swann, the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, Judges of the criminal courts, repre-sentative merchants and lawyers, heads sentative merchants and inverse and of large real estate enterprises and others whose opinions are worth while, and from women qualified to speak for the newly enfranchised voters, came delighted indersement for the stand of speaks with special authority. Not only does he head the State adminis'ration and recently signed the law raising the pay of low salaried State employees but his opportunity for learning all ahout the New York police and their problems was unequalled during his long service as District Attorney. The Governor said at the St. Ragis yesterday:

"The matter is of course one that must be decided by the Board of Estimate of New York city and not by the State administration.

"I am perfectly willing to say, however, that TRE BUN is taking the right course. There is no doubt that the salaries of the patrolmen abould be raised. I say this most heartily out of my own observation of the Police Department and familiarity with the conditions under which employees of the public work.

"In this connection it is worth noting that the New York Legislature recently passed a bill, which I signed, increasing by 10 per cent. the salaries of all State employees who have been receiving less than $1,500 s year. This was done as a matter of fairness, to enable them to movement inaugurated by TRE SUN is a good one."

Mr. Munsey's article, Commissioner and right said:

The pay of members of the uniformed police force of the city of New York is far below the general standard of wages in this city for the kind and quality of service rendered. Some years prior to the Greater New York consolidation the saizles of members of the uniformed police force of this city were adopted, and no increase was granted to any tank for more than twelve years.

and no increase was granted to any rank for more than twelve years.
"In 1910 an increase of $250 per annum was granted to lieutenants and sergeants. In 1916 an increase of $400 per annum was granted to inspectors, $370 rer annum to captains and $50 per annum to patrolmen. In 1917 a further increase of $200 was granted to lieutenants and sergeants, and a further increase of $50 per annum was granted to patrolmen. patrolmen.
"Until these raises were granted inspectors had not received an increase in salary for more than forty-five years; captains had not received an increase for thirty years, lieutenants and ser-guants had not received an increase for twenty-two years, and patrolmen no in-rease for twenty-two years.

"In the meantime the cost of living had greatly advanced, particularly in the last few years. It was generally encoded that the cost of living in New York city had advanced 50 per cent since the Greater New York consolidation.

The fore they are permitted by law to retire policemen of all ranks are resulted to serve at least twenty-five years; and unless physically disabled are required to remain in the department until they have reached the age of it. This means that New York city policemen must serve at least twenty-five years, and as many as thirty-four years. The hardships of police life, due to exposure, irregular and long hours, bring early physical disability, and were it not for the exceptionally high physical standard of these men at the time of their entering the service they would be unable to withstend the strain.

"Policemen ought to receive a wage commensurate with the duties they per-form, a great many of which the public knows nothing about. Surely they must receive at least a living wage if we expect to get the best out of them.

"We justly pride ourselves on having the best police force in the country, but the men are inadequately paid, especially in view of the present high cost of living and the expense to which they are put in furnishing their own uniforms and equipment.

the best police force in the country, but the men are inadequately paid, especially in view of the present high cost of living and the expense to which they are put in furnishing their own uniforms and equipment.

"I think the present maximum salary for patrolmen ought to be the minimum. When you give them a living wage you will have removed many temptations."

Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of the Court of General Setsions, where policemen are always coming and going in charge of prisoners and as witnesses, said:

"I heartily approve the plea made by Mr. Munsey and hope the campaign meets with success. It is my opinion that policemen ought to receive a minimum salary of $1,500, and after three years $2,100, the salary that court officers receive. The present pay of patrolmen is entirely inadequate. It is insufficient to enable them to live in a manner which the regulations and their position require."

This was the comment of John F. Mc.

Louis Stern, president of Stern Bros. State, he added, it gets back practic the department store firm, said: "I fully agree with every statement made by Mr. Munsey in his editorial. If the city expects honest work from the police it should pay them a living wage. The police are a splendid body of men. I have often wondered why they remain on the force when they could make so much more money in other vocations."

"If made application to the Board of Estimate for an increase and was successful in regard to the lieutenants and sergeants, but not for the patrolmen, "We have a fine police force and they should be paid a living wage. Good luck to The Sun, and hope you succeed."

Frank Mosa, who was president of the Board of Police Commissioners just before New York adopted the single headed system and whose work as a lawyer has given him exceptional opportunities for observing the police, said:

"I think The Sun is right. Patrolmen ahould get more pay, especially those whose salary is $1,050 a year. The matter is so simple that it speaks for itself. It is self evident that a policeman should be so welf paid as to enable him and his family to live decently.

"It is especially important that the young man just starting in the Police Department should be protected against the possibility of making improper allitances at the outset. I have long advo-
